

Palace residents have 'Senior' prom

Homestead senior citizens recently proved that proms aren't exclusive to graduating high school students.

The Palace Gardens, an assisted living community, recently sponsored a Senior Prom at the Homestead Community Center for local residents.

Not to be outdone by their younger counterparts, the seniors—decked out in their finest attire—also nominated each other for the coveted title of Prom King & Queen which was awarded to Don Mordew and Marge Ramirez.

Attendees also enjoyed a gourmet lunch, courtesy of The Palace, before dancing the afternoon away to music provided by DJ Danny.

"We're always excited to partner with the Homestead Community Center to present fun and exciting events for the area's seniors," said Sylvie Barreto, Director of Admissions for The Palace Gardens and event organizer. "It's very rewarding to be a good neighbor and give back to the city."
